

ABSTRACT

A CPU heat sink and cooling fan combination is provided which automatically establishes an electrical connection for the cooling fan when the combination is inserted into a chip board.